

GALA GARB FOR LEGION EVENTS

Electrical Displays to Be Made;
Stores Decorated for Soldiers' Convention

Ogden streets, stores and public buildings will be bright with many colors, flags and banners during the American Legion annual convention, which will be held here May 31, June 1 and 2, if the plans of the convention decoration committee are carried out. Announcement was made this morning by Norman Sims, chairman of the decoration committee, that every merchant in Ogden will be asked to furnish window displays and store decorations while the sessions are in progress.

In addition to the individual displays by stores and business institutions, street decorations and electrical decorations are planned for the city. Principal among these will be the installation of a huge electrical sign, which will stretch across Washington avenue, and will contain words of welcome to the delegates and visitors. Owen Sherwood, former lieutenant of artillery and a local electrician, is preparing the electrical displays.

A canvas of the entire city will be made within the next few days by the decorations committee members in an endeavor to gain the co-operation of storekeepers and business men in the matter of display. Each will be asked to place banners and flags on the store fronts and install window displays containing messages of welcome to the former soldiers.

John E. Holden, state secretary of the American Legion of Utah, visited Ogden this morning and conferred with J. Ray Ward and Mr. Sims in regard to the convention and to the American Legion membership "push" which will be held throughout the three days, beginning next Tuesday. Mr. Holden said the state officers hoped to double the present membership of the legion in the membership campaign.

The state secretary expressed approval of the manner in which preparations are being made here for the campaign, and declared that Ogden will need little aid from state headquarters. Every present member of the legion will be asked to bring in at least one new member during the big "push."

POLICE LOOKING FOR BIKE RIDER; GAVE WRONG NAME

"Who is he and where does he live?" is the query which has arisen at the police station regarding an individual arrested several days ago on a charge of riding his bicycle on the sidewalk. Several bicycle riders were brought to the station together. All were working men and to accommodate them they were allowed to depart, with the understanding that they would return and post bail. Three of the four riders kept their promise, while the fourth, who gave the name of John White and his address as 2123 Wall avenue, failed to appear.

While the name and address of the man is not known, officers who saw his face are on the lookout for him. "He's a man whom we would like to get in court," Judge D. R. Roberts said this morning.

DANCING LEADS PANTAGES' BILL

Julnar of Sea Is Headliner of Week's Offering at the Orpheum

"Julnar of the Sea" presented by the Danish dancers and "A Day at Ellis Island" with Maurice Samuels and players, both of which have been seen in Ogden before, are headliners on the Pantages vaudeville bill which opened at the Orpheum theatre yesterday. Both acts, however, show improvement in scenery and dialogue and were entertaining to large audiences. The marine offering is distinguished by a box of beautiful girls who dance in abbreviated oriental costumes. Lillian Powell being the star. "A Day at Ellis Island" is replete with comedy situations. The Italian and Irish characterizations are well done and furnished laughs by the dozen.

Dancing both of the ultra modern and the by-gone days is demonstrated by Davey Jamison, who after an extended introduction, dances as the audience wills it. George W. Jones and Harry Sylvester in "The Hucklester and the Actor" depict an episode of city life which proved amusing. The show is opened by Glen and Pugh, "Two Boys from Dixieland," who dance and sing in pleasing fashion.

The screen magazine, with a showing of the latest hits and other items of current interest, closes the bill. The Orpheum orchestra with excellent playing adds much to the pleasure of the show.

BAG DISGORGES POSSIBLE LOOT

Man Held at Los Angeles
When Articles Bearing Ogden Names Found

A circumstance that may lead to the recovery of silverware believed to have been stolen in Ogden occurred yesterday in Los Angeles, Cal., when a suitcase belonging to Cyril A. Nick, fell from a baggage transfer truck and burst open, disgorged $400 worth of plate. Nick, who boarded the train at Salt Lake was arrested and is being held in jail.

The police say they found articles in the suitcase bearing names of persons in Ogden and Salt Lake. They also found a receipt for rent for a safety deposit box in a Los Angeles bank, they reported. A receipt was also found for a safety deposit box in the Oakland branch of the Bank of Italy.

Beery Case Continued Until Next Wednesday

C. M. Beery, charged with disturbing the peace and alleged to have been in a fight with Dave Heldwell, a Globe Mill employee yesterday, appeared before the city court this morning. A plea of not guilty was entered by Attorney George S. Barker, counsel for the defendant, and a jury trial was demanded. Judge D. R. Roberts set the case for Wednesday, May 19.

Beery's appearance bore evidence that he had stopped severe blows, the end of his nose being a flaming red, with considerable epidermis missing. His left eye was nearly closed and a blue-black area surrounded his optic and extended below his cheek bone. On the right side of his face various contusions were visible.

"Looks like Heldwell got his $5 worth," one of the court spectators exclaimed. In yesterday's article on the same case Heldwell was erroneously referred to as a mill striker. He is employed at the mill.

'WEB OF DECEIT' ON THE SCREEN AT THE UTAH

Sir Walter Scott made the statement, "Oh, what a tangled web we weave when first we practice to deceive," but it does not seem to have had any effect upon the girl who had a great desire for money, as depicted in the screen story, "The Web of Deceit," which will be shown at the Utah theatre today and tomorrow.

In this wonderful picture Dolores Cassinelli plays a dual role, the greatest point of interest centering in the question whether the girl succeeded in robbing her own sister of her heritage. This is a pictureization of some of life's perplexities, in which characters true to life are graphically emphasized.

Dr. Palmer to Begin Sermon Series Sunday

Speaking next Sunday at the First Methodist church at 11 a. m. Dr. Ray Palmer will begin a series of sermons on "Why I am a Baptist."

"Every church should give bible reasons for its existence," says Dr. Palmer, "and no church has a moral right to keep up its separate organization in this age of union and cooperation unless it stands for something distinctive and vital to the welfare of the world."

These questions, I think, should be discussed in a Christian spirit, with charity for all and with malice towards none," he added. The public is cordially invited to these services.
